Finding the perfect pair is easy: Just follow these tips!

Jennifer Lopez

Pulling hair up and wearing dangling earrings, like J.Lo, can help to elongate the face.

"Look for UVA/UVB protection. It's especially important on beach days!"
—Kristen McCabe, VP of Product for Sunglass Hut

If your face is round, try:

RECTANGULAR FRAMES

"For a flattering look, focus on balancing your proportions — think of opposites," says Kristen McCabe, VP of Product for Sunglass Hut. Fuller cheeks + angular frames = emphasized cheekbones!

Gwen Stefani
Inflates, like Gwen's, make a big statement when you're not showing your eyes.

If your face is oval, try:

CAT-EYE FRAMES

Got an oval-shaped face? You're in luck! McCabe says, "Almost my style will work on you, but you'll look best in oversized or cat-eye styles." For the best fit, look for frames that are no wider than the broadest part of your face.

If your face is square, try:

ROUNDED FRAMES

If you're looking to soften a strong jaw, frames with rounded bottoms will counterbalance the square shape of your face. "They also draw interest up and away from the jawline," McCabe adds.

Jessica Lanpe
Pale fringes, like Jessica's, complement blondes and warm up the face.

If your face is heart-shaped, try:

AVIATORS

Aviators, an enduring style since pilots first wore them in 1936, are perfect for heart-shaped faces because they help to "broaden the delicate jawline," says McCabe. Flattering and stylish: What could be better?
